

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A baked dough of a soft-baked type is produced, and the surface of the baked dough is coated with the application of a fat and oil component. Then, an emulsified sauce is further applied onto the surface of the baked dough. Consequently, there can be obtained a soft-baked rice cracker which is uniformly coated with a sauce, has a mild taste, and is glossy, and whose surface makes a good appearance.

卷之三